ACCORDING TO YOU, HOW TO DEVELOP FEMALE LEADERSHIP IN AFRICA?

Let me hereby announce to the world that the global policy advocacy for women empowerment and gender equality is receiving extraordinary attention and gaining grounds in Africa.

Despite this fact, gender diversity is still a worldwide challenge at both an organizational and an individual level and more needs to be done.

I am confident we can further develop female leadership in Africa that would encourage innovation, improve decision-making, reduce corporate misconduct and improve financial returns through;

Training programmes that takes into consideration the positives of female power

- encouraging authentic leadership styles in a safe and supportive space, as variety is the spice of life
- Fostering an atmosphere of trust, where women can increase their influence and drive impact
- Access to the right working tools that equip them for their respective roles
- Review of educational curriculum from the grassroots, that teaches young girls to break free from tagged gender roles, and empower young girls to become leaders themselves at a young age

HOW CAN A WOMAN ASSOCIATE WORK WITH HER HOUSEWORK?

It's all about balance. A career woman must learn how to prioritize and set boundaries.

There should be clear timelines drawn for work and personal/family life. The two should not overlap. Most importantly, women should learn how to say NO when necessary.

What is the difference between leadership and personality? to which extend can it impact on an individual entrepreneurship?

Leadership is a role earned, and people look up to you to deliver. To be in a leadership position is like being a shepherd, and the flock looks up to you to lead them to safe haven. Personality on the other hand is innate and expresses a person's personal character traits. Entrepreneurs must change their authoritative bossy attitude and incorporate a servanthip mindset, which is to focus on empowering and uplifting their employees. The entrepreneur should serve instead of commanding, show humility instead of brandishing authority, and always look to enhance the development of their staff members in ways that unlock potential, creativity and sense of purpose. The end result would definitely boost performance, increase productivity, and augment profits.

To firmly establish yourself in an organisation at a leadership role, you must be consistent, work with utmost integrity to build trust between you and both your internal and external customers.

4 methods in which someone can establish its leadership in the midst of an organization?

- To be a successful leader, one must always set clear cut goals for themselves, for their team and for the organization. These goals must have corresponding strategies and roadmaps to achieving them
- A leader must at best strive to be productive and successful instead of their strategies always ending at road blocks.
- To firmly establish yourself in an organisation at a leadership role, you must be consistent, work with utmost integrity to build trust between you and both your internal and external customers.
- Finally, no man is an island. Networking open doors to greater collaborations, hence anyone wanting to establish themselves in a leadership role must have an affable personality and be open to building relevant sustainable relationships

WHAT IS THE AFRICA CHANGE MOVEMENT PLATFORM ALL ABOUT, ITS TARGET, ADDED VALUE AND PERSPECTIVES?

Africa Change Movement (ACM) is a CHANGE revolution for Africa and for Africans.

Africa is stereotyped with many unsolved issues that has adversely affected the people and the continent as a whole, both locally and internationally. Africa is usually portrayed in western media as a hub for diseases, poverty, political unrest, lack of basic infrastructure, human rights violations, drug trafficking, armed robbery, to mention but a few. These prejudices are not necessarily the true representation of Africa, and ACM is strategically positioned to advocate for change which we know can be realised gradually with time.

This Change Movement comes with Self-Actualization, Self-Motivation and Self-love. It is a rebirth of Self as an African, and will be a discovery journey for all Africans.

In parallel, it is about the perception of ourselves, within ourselves and for ourselves, before transporting to the perception of Africans on the entire world.

Africa has gotten its supposed freedom from their colonial masters, but now is the real time of Freedom. Now is the time to bring the real Change we seek and desire.
